Amboseli – Masai Mara

This 12-Day|11-Night Amboseli -Masai Mara Safari Photography Workshop is organized by Safari Photo Studio and is led by renowned award-winning wildlife photographer Johan Siggesson. This Safari Photography Workshop will give you a unique wildlife photography experience. This small group workshop is limited to only three photographers. Johan will provide in-depth, hands-on instructions and guidance on the best techniques for capturing stunning wildlife images in their natural habitat. This Safari Photography Workshop will be run inside the Amboseli National Park and Mara Triangle.

Amboseli National Park is renowned for its incredible elephant population, including some of the largest tuskers left in Africa. It is also known for its stunning scenery, with the snow-capped peak of Mt. Kilimanjaro towering in the background. The big tuskers of Amboseli National Park are legendary. These magnificent African elephants boast exceptionally long, thick tusks that can reach the ground, earning them the nickname “super tuskers.” They are not only a sight to behold but also hold immense ecological and cultural significance.

Located on the Mara River's western bank, the Mara Triangle is known for its dense wildlife population. It is a great place to see the Big Five (lion, leopard, elephant, buffalo, and rhino) and other animals in their natural habitat. The Mara Triangle is also less crowded than other Masai Mara National Reserve areas, which means you can enjoy a more exclusive Safari Wildlife photography experience.

In this Amboseli -Masai Mara Safari Photography Workshop, led by renowned wildlife photographer Johan Siggesson, and our expert guide who has a wealth of experience in tracking and locating wildlife in Amboseli National and Masai Mara National Reserves. You will learn how to approach wildlife safely and respectfully, while taking pictures in close range. It is important to remember that wildlife should be treated with respect. The workshop will emphasize the importance of ethical wildlife photography, ensuring that you don't disturb or stress the animals in any way.

You can learn from other photographers in the group, share your own experiences, and receive feedback on your work. The workshops are all-inclusive and include accommodation, meals, game drives, and instruction. They are a great way for photographers of all levels to improve their skills and learn more about safari wildlife photography.

Johan Siggesson

Photography Instructor

“Seeing is only the first step in the creative process. Experiencing what I see and conveying it to You is where the creation becomes engaging.

With nature as an eternal source of inspiration, I create works where my impressions of my surroundings are expressed on paper. Creating harmony of the uninterrupted complexity that exists in nature is stimulating and inspiring.

Although my images have different motives and have been created using different techniques in the camera, all images are permeated with respect and reverence for the, sometimes very fragile, nature that surrounds us.”

Johan Siggesson

A wildlife photographer from Sweden residing on the small Mediterranean island of Malta. From an early age, Johan was passionate about animals and the natural world. Before Animal Planet, Nat. Geo Wild and the likes, he was always guided in front of the weekly nature program on Swedish state television. No matter if it was lions in Africa, wolves in Yellowstone or Polar bears in Svalbard, Johan practically grew up with Sir David Attenborough’s voice at the back of his head.

From the moment he bought his first digital camera, Johan was hooked. The creativity that is unleashed with instant feedback on the screen, variable ISO and more or less unlimited image capacity is something that really appeals to him. This, combined with a passion for animals, is a recipe for a wildlife photographer.

When he is not out photographing or stuck in front of his Mac processing images, Johan enjoys a good meal or watching a game of soccer with friends... and a cold beer. Johan hopes that you like viewing his images just as much as he enjoyed taking them!

In early 2019, Johan was one of the fortunate to be accepted into Sweden’s most prestigious nature photography association called Naturfotograferna/N. A great honour!

TYPICAL DAY ON SAFARI

Our professional guides are there to assist you every step of the way. Even though there is a general outline of your safari, your guide will talk with you regarding each day's plans. He will tell you about the country you are visiting, its history, traditions, the area you are visiting, what you see; he will take you to the loveliest places, look after any formalities or negotiations with the local people, and take care of your safety and comfort. They all are proficient in bush craft, and can also tell you about the local traditions, wildlife, identify the birds, and help you learn more about the world around you. All our guides speak English as well as their local language and some speak French and Spanish as well. Days will vary depending on your specific schedule, road conditions, and what you would like to do. A typical day may unfold like this:

You will get up before dawn when hot coffee and tea are served. The air is cold as the sun rises and shimmers on the open plains. This is the best time to see the wildlife. Your camera is ready to go and you have layered your clothing to keep you warm. Head into the bush and search for lions, elephant, giraffe and plains game. Each turn will offer something unique - a lioness and her cubs, a herd of elephant moving to a waterhole, a cheetah stalking a gazelle. Your morning game drive lasts about two hours, depending on what you see. Return to the lodge for a delicious breakfast. After breakfast there is time to relax from being up at sunrise or now is the time to participate in any additional activities that the lodge may offer – such as walks, village visits, or bike rides.

Lunch is usually served in camp/lodge, unless you are out for a full day's game drive, when they will have a picnic lunch. You will head out again in the afternoon; searching for the special species that may have eluded you. As the sun sets, return to camp for a hot shower. Then indulge in a delicious dinner and after dinner drinks in the lounge. There may also be a chance to sit around the campfire exchanging tales of the bush. Everyone retires early with great anticipation of the next day's adventure!

When you are out on safari your schedule is flexible at most locations; however, some locations have set times for game drives or walks. You can always talk with the hosts of the camps/lodge to adjust schedules and they will try to accommodate you. The restriction will be to stay within park rules and travel times required to get you to your destination. Your guides will always give their recommendations but are there to listen to your needs.

23. LIMITS ON EXPEDITION TRAVELLERS' RESPONSIBILITY:

Expedition Travellers, its employees, shareholders, officers, directors, successors, agents, and assigns (collectively "ET"), do not own or operate any entity which is to or does provide goods or services for your trip. It purchases transportation (by aircraft, coach, train, vessel, or otherwise), hotel and other lodging accommodations, restaurants, ground handling, and other services from various independent suppliers (including, from time to time, other affiliated Expedition Travellers companies). All such persons and entities are independent contractors. As a result, ET is not liable for any negligent or willful act of any such person or entity or of any third person.

In addition and without limitation, ET is not responsible for any injury, financial or physical loss, death, inconvenience, delay, or damage to personal property in connection to the provision of any goods or services, whether resulting from but not limited to acts of God or force majeure, illness, disease, acts of war, civil unrest, insurrection or revolt, animals, strikes or other labor activities, criminal or terrorist activities of any kind, overbooking or downgrading of services, food poisoning, mechanical or other failures of aircraft or other means of transportation or for the failure of any transport mechanism to arrive or depart on time.

There are many inherent risks in adventure travel of the type involved here, leading to illness, injury, or even death. These risks are increased because these trips occur in remote locations, far from medical facilities.

If you decide to participate in any activities including, but not limited to, any excursions involving animals, riding on animals, SCUBA diving, snorkeling, boating, hot air ballooning, zip-lining, high altitude treks, climbing, quad biking, parasailing, parachuting, kayaking, white-water rafting, primate tracking and any activity which ET considers to carry inherent risks of serious illness, injury, or death (“Activities”), then you fully understand and acknowledge that Activities carry with them various inherent risks, including serious illness, injury, or death. You take complete responsibility for your own health and safety and agree to assume all risks of injury, illness, or death, whether foreseen or unforeseen, that may befall you as a result of participating in any Activities and agree to release ET and its affiliates, their agents, employees, and representatives from any liability whatsoever related thereto, to the fullest extent permitted by law.

Further, as consideration for being permitted to participate in the Activities, you release ET, whether known or unknown, from and agree not to sue or make a claim against ET for property damage, cancellation of any activities for any reason, illness, negligent rescue operations or procedures, personal injury or death arising from your participation in the Activities, and any activity related thereto, including transportation to and from the site of the Activities, regardless of whether such property damage, illness, personal injury, or death results from the negligence of ET (but not its reckless, willful, or fraudulent conduct) and/or from any defect in the equipment. You further agree to indemnify and hold ET harmless for any claim made against ET by anyone else that a) related to your participation or b) would be subject to the above release and covenant not to sue if you had made this claim directly yourself.

26.TRAVELERS’ REPRESENTATIONS:

If you or any member of your party has any medical problem or disability that may affect your stay, please provide us with full details before confirming your booking to advise you on the suitability of your chosen arrangements. We may require you to produce a doctor’s certificate certifying that you can participate in the tour. Acting reasonably, we will not confirm your booking if we cannot adequately accommodate the person’s needs. Suppose you did not give us full details at the time of booking. We will cancel it and impose applicable cancellation charges when we become aware of these details.

27.AIR TRANSPORTATION:

AIR TRANSPORTATION: Airlines concerned are not to be held responsible for any act, omission, or event occurring while passengers are not on board their aircraft. International air carriers are also subject to international air conventions limiting their liability. These limitations of liability are explained on the e-ticket or the reverse of the airline ticket. When issued, this constitutes the sole contract between the respective air carrier(s) and their passengers.

Airlines overbook all flights! Therefore, we recommend that you check in online as soon as the airline makes online check-in available. If you do not book online or cannot, we recommend that you arrive at the airport 3 hours before departure. Airlines may re-allocate seats in the event of late check-in and arrivals. ET cannot check you in, and you must ensure you are checked in within the appropriate time. ET is neither responsible nor liable if you are downgraded an airline class due to the airline overbooking the class in which you are booked. Seat reservations are at the airline's discretion and may be changed at any time without notice.

CRUISES/CHARTERS: If you are scheduled to partake in a cruise or charter, you are responsible for ensuring that you are aboard the vessel 60 minutes before the scheduled sailing time. ET is neither responsible nor liable if you fail to board the vessel in good time and suffer any loss. Furthermore, refunds will not be given for any missed days due to such failure or for clients who leave the Cruise prematurely.

28.PASSPORTS & VISAS

Please also note that passports must be valid for at least six (6) months after the completion of your journey and should have sufficient blank pages for visas and immigration stamps. ET can only be held responsible if you are allowed entry to a country due to non-compliance with these requirements. Should you require specific information ahead of travel, please consult the travel advice produced by the government of your home jurisdiction and that of the government that issued the passport and/or visa you intend to travel under.

Should you require further specific information ahead of travel, please consult the travel advice produced by the government of your home jurisdiction and that of the government that issued the passport and/or visa you intend to travel under.

Due to some of the excursions and activities involved in ET trips, minimum age requirements are in place at some destinations. Some accommodations require children below a certain age to share a room with an adult. Such circumstances vary and will be specified within your itinerary, ahead of travel, and at the time of booking.
